Understanding Behaviour in Children

Not Playing Fair Is Not Bullying

Wanting games to be played a certain way is not bullying. This desire typically comes from being assertive, a natural-born leader or may even be selfishness. But when a child begins to consistently threaten other kids or physically hurt them when things don't go his way, then not playing fair transforms into bullying. Now, it is no longer about being selfish, it is about having the power and control in the relationship.

If your child has bossy friends, teach them how to respond to the bossy behaviour. For example, your child could say: "Let's play your way, the first time. Then, let's try my way." Also, be sure you teach your kids how to develop healthy friendships. And talk to them about the dangers of fake friends. If a playmate never wants to do things any way but their own, this could be a sign of a controlling friend.

When observing the unkind behaviours your child experiences, be sure you label them correctly. Doing so will help you keep things in perspective, not only for you but for your child as well. What's more, it will help you know how to handle the situation appropriately so that your child can learn and grow from it.

And, when your child does experience bullying be sure you take the necessary steps not only to help your child cope with and heal from bullying but also report it the principal and others so it doesn't happen again.

Learning Support News

We are at the end of yet another term and all Learning Support students have well and truly earned a little holiday break!

Recently we have been working on focus areas such as multiplication, subtraction with trading, place value, sight words, identifying/highlighting key facts to help answer questions about a text, planning of writing and blends.

A popular activity with our younger YPS students building their sight word knowledge has been the 'sight word cups' game. During this game, an animal counter is hidden under 1 of 5 cups. Students take turns to guess which cup the animal is under and if they are correct, they keep it. For the cup to be lifted, they need to say the word stuck to the front of the cup. The person with the most animals at the end is the winner. We had a LOT of fun learning playing this game! I would like to wish all Learning Support students and their families a very safe and happy holiday break. See you all next term for some more great learning!

(Week 1, Term 3)

YPS Kindergarten Transition

The fantastic 'YPS Kindergarten Transition' Program will commence Friday, August 28th and conclude Friday, November 13th.

When 'Little Learners' concludes at 12 noon, Transition students will move to the K.1 classroom to complete further learning activities with the K.1 class. For the final 2 sessions, Kindergarten Transition students will spend the whole day with K.1.

Due to changes in the allocation of funding for our support staff we can only offer Kindergarten Transition places to students who have enrolled for Kindergarten at YPS in 2021.

Please phone the school or talk to Mrs Kroek at the end of Little Learners on a Friday if you require more information/have not informed us your child will be attending YPS Kindergarten Transition.

Thank you 😊

Thank you to all the 'Little Learners' and their families who have shared photos of themselves completing activities from the 'Little Learners' home activity packs. It has been lovely seeing your smiling faces and great work! We hope all the 'Little Learners' have a very happy and safe holiday period and look forward to seeing all of you (and a few new faces!) next Term!

Mrs Kroek & Mrs Milthorpe 😊
